

XP Home safe file sharing (newbie)

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2006-01/msg00954.html

- From: Ben Hardy <ben@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 20 Jan 2006 20:48:29 +0000
-

Can someone point me somewhere that instructs me how to set up file sharing on a home network that is secure.

I have 2 pcs (both XP Home) connected to Hub/ADSL modem. Each PC can access the Internet but I want to share files between each PC but without compromising security re the Internet. I know how to do it but I have no idea if it is safe. Each PC has a software firewall (ZoneAlarm) and the Hub/ADSL Modem has a hardware firewall. However, when I set them up to do File & Folder Sharing there are all these warnings about security and that if I Share then anyone on the Net can access my files.

There is a way to do this I assume but at present I am too stupid to work out how. Help!

Ben

.