

Re: Can't connect to the Internet with router setup test.

Re: Can't connect to the Internet with router setup test.

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2006-01/msg01057.html

- From: "GTS" <x>
 - Date: Mon, 23 Jan 2006 10:57:01 -0500
-

It sounds like you're using AOL provided Broadband. If so, see these articles

<http://www.practicallynetworked.com/qa/qa20030410.shtml>

<http://www.winplanet.com/article/2331-.htm>

--

"Larry" <Larry@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:0547F4B9-6C68-487E-B2A8-F19EEB1ACCDF@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

>I have tried to setup a Linksys router between my PC's Lan card and my >cable > modem using the setup disk provided by linksys. I use AOL 9.0 to log onto > the > Internet. I have no problem without the router, but cant connect when the > router is in the loop. I have Windows firewall "On" and only see my LAN > card
> as a network connections If I turn the Windows firewall "OFF" the I see > the > router in my netwrk connections. but still can't connect to the Internet.
> I > don't understand the problem between the router/firewall. Should DHCP only > run on the router or on the one hardwired PC? Any help is greatly > appreciated. Thanks

.

- Prev by Date: Re: Lost default gateway
- Next by Date: Re: Problems adding a new computer to existing network
- Previous by thread: 15 seconds delay before DNS lookup
- Next by thread: Unknown IP address of computer without screen
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread