I was just thinking how wonderful life was, when Chuck <none@xxxxxxxxxx> opened his gob and said:

Now, I will work on this with you, if you wish to continue. But I'll ask you to read my nVidia article, and in particular the link at the end, which goes to a post in this forum, which refers to a second thread in this forum, that ended just last week.

I have read the article. I have uninstalled and reinstalled the latest NVidia drivers and am downloading some previous drivers to see if they will help.

I'm just puzzled why the problem is limited to two Pcs (1+2) on my LAN whilst PCs 2+3 work 110% normally together.
