Re: Can i use netbeui with netbios in XP?

Source:
http://www.tech−archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2006−10/msg00671.html

- From: "Doug Sherman [MVP]" <nodspamherman@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
- Date: Mon, 16 Oct 2006 12:03:59 −0400

Yes − if File and Printer Sharing is enabled and you disable NetBIOS, you can still connect by using \\<IPaddress>. Also, if you use fixed IP addresses, you can create desktop shortcuts or use your hosts file for name resolution. However, you cannot browse the network without NetBIOS.

Doug Sherman
MCSE, MCSA, MCP+I, MVP

"Creep" <ebdoerr1@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:1160956918.483837.20440@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> Thanks Doug
> I knew it would slow things down some and i'd still have to run tcp/ip > just started thinking it mite keep things more sercure.
> Is it true i can run file sharing without netbios, with smb?
> Do you think that's any safer? I have do tons of reading on all of this > but my brain is getting soft and I thought this would be a good place > for answers. Thanks again for your help

.