

File & Printer sharing

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2007-01/msg00375.html

- From: "Pat Garard" <apgarard-bigpond:net:au>
 - Date: Thu, 11 Jan 2007 19:13:10 +1100
-

G'Day All,

I am assisting my daughter who has 2 computers connected to a DLink DSL302G ADSL Modem:

1. Desktop via USB
2. Notebook via Ethernet

Both can now access the internet.

This is a supported configuration and File/Printer Sharing should be possible using the 10.1.1.x addresses supplied by the modem.

UNFORTUNATELY I made the mistake of running the Wizard on one machine – the Home Network one that implements ICS.

That machine cannot see the Workgroup (to which IT belongs itself).

How may I "undo" the Wizard's magic spell?

—

Regards,
Pat Garard
Melbourne, Australia
