

Re: Bootup Launches 2 applications

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.newusers/2004-03/1435.html>

From: Rick \ (rick_at_mvps.org)

Date: 03/10/04

Date: Wed, 10 Mar 2004 07:37:23 -0500

Hi,

Start/.run msconfig and disable them on the startup tab.

To locate where they are loading from, start/run msinfo32, expand the software environment and click on the startup programs. This should show you what is loading at boot and where it is loading from.

--

Best of Luck,
Rick Rogers aka "Nutcase" MS-MVP - Win9x
Windows isn't rocket science! That's my other hobby!
<http://mvp.support.microsoft.com/>
Associate Expert - WinXP - Expert Zone
www.microsoft.com/windowsxp/expertzone
Win98 Help - www.rickrogers.org
"chapmand" <chapmand@neo.rr.com> wrote in message
news:9C32DF87-90DB-4F98-9D97-AFF931863109@microsoft.com...
> When my system (newly upgraded from Windows ME) boots up each time it launches 2 applications instead of just presenting me with the Desktop. I am not sure why these 2 apps are launching but my sense is that they are recently used by me but not active when I shut the computer down.
>
> I can not find a way to make them stop launching at boot up. They are not in my startup windows group either.
>
> Any suggestions or am I overlooking something obvious?
>
> Thanks for the help...
>
> Doug