

Re: Instant Messaging

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.newusers/2004-08/1149.html>

---

From: Carrie Garth (PostInGroup_at_invalid.cyg)

Date: 08/13/04

Date: Fri, 13 Aug 2004 09:40:32 -0500

| "Chili" <Chili@discussions.microsoft.com>
| Message news:3967703E-7281-4EC9-BB94-1C43C901B2FC@microsoft.com
| Hi, i've just installed a home network and want to ask
| something about instant messaging from a user on one computer
| to another user on another computer on the network. Is this
| possible? I've noticed that if you press ctrl+alt+del there is
| a tab titled 'users'. On it there is an option to 'send
| message' but i cant get this to work. Any help is greatly
| appreciated. Thanks.

Microsoft Windows XP ships with a GUI chat application named WinChat (winchat.exe) that may meet your needs. For more information see the following Microsoft Knowledge Base article:

KB308232 – Using Windows Chat in Windows XP

<http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?Product=winxp&scid=kb:en-us:308232>