

p2p networks and win xp services

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.newusers/2005-02/1977.html>

From: Tomac (Tomac_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 02/21/05

Date: Mon, 21 Feb 2005 08:07:05 -0800

Hello all,

I am a new user of win xp pro. I was trying to tweak windows, and I changed some settings in the services tab of computer management. Now I can't access the p2p networks that I used for sharing personal files (not piracy) with friends. I am a new multimedia producer, and I use the p2p networks to quickly make my files accessible to others who help me in editing. It works fairly well, but making the changes that I made won't allow it to go back. I tried undoing my changes, but it still isn't working. All I did is disable some of the tasks. If you have any suggestions, please let me know.

Thanks,