

OT: How to uninstall Google toolbar when Windows failed to boot

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.newusers/2005-09/msg00831.html>

- From: "Craig" <machocraig@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 19 Sep 2005 11:45:55 -0600
-

Once in a while, my computer failed to boot. There several ways to fix the problem.

I like to use ERD Commander to fix such a problem. The problem is that ERD Commander does not work due to Runtime Error. I found that Runtime error was due to the installed Google toolbar. When Google toolbar was removed, ERD Commander works well.

My question is how to uninstall Google toolbar when c-drive becomes out of commission. I can get into the disabled C-drive using other boot CD. Then, I wonder how to uninstall the google toolbar. I like to learn this process in case I meet next computer disaster. TIA. Craig

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: How to uninstall Google toolbar when Windows failed to boot
 - ◇ From: Vanguard \(\NPI\)
 - Prev by Date: Re: Transferring old files...
 - Next by Date: Re: Windows XP Professional
 - Previous by thread: Re: Transferring old files...
 - Next by thread: Re: How to uninstall Google toolbar when Windows failed to boot
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread