Can someone help me with this?

My computer was not shut down properly, then the manual restart button was hit. The computer restarted to the windows set-up screen (safe mode, last successful configuration, windows normally, etc.). I chose safe mode, and the computer began to run windows, but then a blue screen with text flashes (maybe a stop screen, it flashes too fast for me to read or pause) and my computer restarts itself. I tried all start-up modes, and couldn't get passed the Windows loading bar before the same thing happens and the computer restarts itself. Any way passed this???

THANKS!
