

Sudden ntdll.dll error

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.perform_maintain/2005-06/msg00931.htm

- From: "Francine" <Francine@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 25 Jun 2005 15:42:02 -0700
-

Hello. I am not sure I am in the correct forum, but I recently started having a problem with an application starting to load and then a message coming up stating that there was a problem with the "ntdll.dll" file.

I even located a copy to download, placed that in the \Windows\System32 folder and each time I continue to attempt to launch this application, it partially starts up, then hangs and then gives me the error message.

Is there something I am not doing correctly? Any suggestions? It had been working just fine for the past year or so and about a month ago, BOOM, this error message came up.

Thanks much for any help
Francine

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Sudden ntdll.dll error
 - ◇ From: Kerry Brown
 - ◆ Re: Sudden ntdll.dll error
 - ◇ From: FrankV
- Prev by Date: "hung app" more frequent
- Next by Date: Re: Windows XP not opening at startup
- Previous by thread: "hung app" more frequent
- Next by thread: Re: Sudden ntdll.dll error
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread