

Re: Change the order start up applications

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.perform_maintain/2005-07/msg00897.htm

- From: "Cynthia" <Cynthia@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 26 Jul 2005 10:19:04 -0700
-

hanks Dave,

Lets say I have five programs that I want to start at start up in certain order. Would a shell script still be the way. Thanks again.

Cynthia

"Dave Patrick" wrote:

- > The 'Run' keys start asynchronously rather than sequentially. To start
 - > applications sequentially create a shell script something like this and
 - > place it in your \Startup directory.
 - >
 - > -----mystartup.cmd-----
 - > start "" "D:\Program Files\Microsoft Office\OFFICE11\outlook.exe"
 - > start "" "D:\Program Files\Microsoft Office\OFFICE11\word.exe"
 - > start "" "D:\Program Files\Microsoft Office\OFFICE11\excel.exe"
 - > -----end file-----
 - >
 - > --
 - > Regards,
 - >
 - > Dave PatrickPlease no email replies – reply in newsgroup.
 - > Microsoft Certified Professional
 - > Microsoft MVP [Windows]
 - > <http://www.microsoft.com/protect>
 - >
 - > "Cynthia" wrote:
 - > | How do you permanently change the order that a application starts when in
 - > the
 - > | HKLM\Software\Windows\CurentVersion\Run.
 - >
 - >
 - >
 - .
-

Re: Change the order start up applications

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Change the order start up applications
 - ◇ From: Dave Patrick

- References:
 - ◆ Change the order start up applications
 - ◇ From: Cynthia
 - ◆ Re: Change the order start up applications
 - ◇ From: Dave Patrick

- Prev by Date: Re: One computer, two networks
- Next by Date: Re: Change the order start up applications
- Previous by thread: Re: Change the order start up applications
- Next by thread: Re: Change the order start up applications
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread