

RE: XP Performance

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.perform_maintain/2005-08/msg00005.htm

- From: "deebs" <spoofed@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 29 Jul 2005 14:42:04 -0700
-

May be something is hanging?

I have a program that send CPU to 100% occasionally at start OR in the middle of a process within the program OR after closing the program.

The only way I ID'd the exe was as the application disappeared from Application window in WTM its associated .exe was still present under Processes listing

A smart prod on closing the process helped

"Art" wrote:

- > Task mgr is reporting 50% CPU utilization while computer is idle!! . Is this
 - > normal? Never looked until lately. My computer is a P4 3.2 mhz with 2 gig
 - > ram and two 10,000 rpm SATA hard drives. Opening up any file wil take CPU
 - > utilization easily up to 80 to 100%. Computer is noticeably slower... not
 - > sure if from BIOS upgrade (ASUS) or me messing with Performance settings.
 - > Right now, I have everything set to Windows optimize my memory.
 - >
 - > Your input on what to check is appreciated
 - > -Art
- .
-

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ RE: XP Performance
 - ◇ From: Art
- Prev by Date: Re: XP Performance
- Next by Date: RE: XP Performance
- Previous by thread: Re: XP Performance
- Next by thread: RE: XP Performance
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread