Part of one of my canned responses:

"Go to Start, Control Panel, Folder Options, View, Advanced Settings and verify that the box before "Show hidden files and folders" is checked and "Hide protected operating system files " is unchecked. You may need to scroll down to see the second item. You should also make certain that the box before "Hide extensions for known file types" is not checked. Next in Windows Explorer make sure View, Details is selected and then select View, Choose Details and check before Name, Type, Total Size, and Free Space."

If that is the case then the file size will not change and the date will not be current.

The file does not exist on my system.

Make sure that you set folder options in explorer to show hidden and system files. I don't understand your reference to file size or date. Most postings I've seen refer to the file being highly corrupted and that when it's recreated it gets the right properties (size and allocation).
