

Re: Fixing up the window's registry

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.perform_maintain/2008-05/msg00491.htm

- From: Leonard Grey <Leonard@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 28 May 2008 11:28:02 -0400
-

This is such an old topic. No one has ever demonstrated with before-and-after data that using a registry cleaner has any value, but these newsgroups are littered with posts crying about the damage that this or that registry cleaner has done, usually irreversible.

To keep your computer running well at all times do these three things:

- 1- Learn how to use it wisely.
- 2- Learn how to maintain it.
- 3- Keep it free from malware.

Of course, this takes more time than installing a registry cleaner and pressing the 'Go' button. But it's the one sure way to keep your system running well.

Leonard Grey
Errare humanum est

Stanley wrote:

Hi I have windows Xp installed on my PC. I had a very slow system and decided to do a fresh install. Two days later I am stuck in the same situation.... When googling the performance of machine it was suggested that I purchase either a program called "reg cure" or "pc mechanic". Both sites guarentee to fix the windows registry (which I know Jack about) and boost the sytem performance and and and. problem is... I don't know which program to buy firstly, and second is this the solution to sorting out my windows issue. Any advise or suggestions