

microsoft.public.windowsxp.setup_deployment: Re: RIS install hangs at "Setup is starting Windows"

Re: RIS install hangs at "Setup is starting Windows"

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.setup_deployment/2004-03/0119.html

From: NIC Student (nospam_at_nospam.land)

Date: 03/01/04

Date: Mon, 1 Mar 2004 15:27:35 -0800

Wierd. In our environment we have different domain admin and local admin passwords on all servers and we haven't seen this issue. I'm glad you found your solution.

--

Scott Baldrige

Windows Server MVP, MCSE

"Richard Grainger"

> I have now solved this problem. The password for the local > Administrator on the RIS server had been changed so that it was > different form the Domain Administrator password. It seems that that > these passwords must be the same for the install to work. As far as I > can tell, this isn't documented and doesn't make much sense as the > client install screen requests a domain account and password.
> Anyway, thanks for the responses.