When I try to load a new copy of XP OEM I receive the message of A problem detected with hardware software.

session3_initialization_failed.

Tech info

Stop: 0x0000006f

I have detached all my peripherals, printer, scanner, usb devices, etc. I have only the mouse and keyboard attached.

I am running a Compaq Deskpro EN P667, 512k memory and trying to install a WD 200 gig harddrive. I have tried using the overlay from WD but I still get the same error.

I even tried to use smaller harddrives to correct the problem. What can I do? I check the knowledge base and it states this error is due to missing files but this pertains to Windows NT and Win 2000. Please help.
