

Re: File Sharing and Security

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.setup_deployment/2005-10/msg00315.htm

- From: "Nepatsfan" <nepatsfan@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 20 Oct 2005 00:30:11 -0400
-

You're welcome, Coach. Glad I was able to help you out.

Nepatsfan

Coach1159 wrote:

- > It was Door #2! Thanks so very much for the prompt and dead
- > accurate response.
- >
- > You are a great resource!
- >
- > "Nepatsfan" wrote:
- >
- >> Coach1159 wrote:
- >>> I am trying to set folder security rights, and the Security
- >>> tab does not show up.
- >>>
- >>> I have checked just about every checkbox that relates to
- >>> file sharing, and I can not get the tab to display.
- >>>
- >>> I see the tab on every other XP machine I am in contact
- >>> with.
- >>>
- >>> Any ideas what might be the cause?
- >>
- >> Three possibilities come to mind:
- >>
- >> 1 The drive is not using NTFS. Check My Computer, right
- >> click the drive and look for File System on the General
- >> page. Does it say NTFS or FAT32?
- >>
- >> 2. It is using NTFS but you haven't disabled Simple File
- >> Sharing. Go to Folder Options, View Page and remove the
- >> check mark next to "Use Simple File Sharing".
- >>
- >> 3. You're trying to do this on a computer running Windows XP
- >> Home Edition. Home Edition uses Simple File Sharing by
- >> default. The Security tab is only displayed when the system
- >> is running in Safe Mode. Restart, hit the F8 key repeatedly

Re: File Sharing and Security

>> and select Safe Mode from the menu.

>>

>> Good luck

>>

>> Nepatsfan

• References:

◆ Re: File Sharing and Security

◇ From: Nepatsfan

• Prev by Date: Re: SP2 Uninstall/XP Reinstall/"Access Denied"

• Next by Date: Re: Ghost WinXP company deployment..... automating...

• Previous by thread: Re: File Sharing and Security

• Next by thread: Ghost WinXP company deployment..... automating...

• Index(es):

◆ Date

◆ Thread