

Re: Windows xp setup keeps freezing

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.setup_deployment/2006-02/msg00396.htm

- From: "Michael Stevens" <mstevens@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 24 Feb 2006 02:16:58 -0800
-

In news:77B78106-2501-40AA-9BBE-2E4A479F2853@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx, duckman <duckman@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> replied with a ;-)

Thanks I know sp2 is an add on. I have the cd not up-grade, brand new. Have done all that several times. I think it must be a hardware conflict cos it just gets to the 1 place and stops it just hangs there no error messages or anything to help. Think i'll have to take it to the shop fed up now but don't like being beaten.

Do not follow Andrew E's advice, he is not sincerer and usually posts for what ever agenda for his reason very damageing advice.

"Andrew E." wrote:

Thier is no xp SP2 as an OS,SP2 is an add on to xp.Try installing the microsoft xp cd with or w/o SP2,select in BIOS to boot to cd if needed (1st boot device priority,or similiar),once at xp cd boot screen,select install xp,delete the partition, create one,then xp formats and installs auto.If this is an upgrade xp,you'll need to briefly install an older windows OS cd for verification only-10 to 15 sec.

"duckman" wrote:

I got windows xp sp2, reformatted, partitioned, everything went well until it got to setup is copying files: at the bottom of the screen it says copying: driver.cab and it won't go any further. Can anyone help me i've re-started the setup 5 times now and it stops in the same place every time.

Re: Windows xp setup keeps freezing

HHHHHHHHHeeeeeeeeIIIIIIppppppppppp.