

Re: DVD writing help

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.video/2004-06/0656.html>

From: Graham Hughes, MVP Digital Media (graham_at_simplydv.co.uk)

Date: 06/22/04

Date: Tue, 22 Jun 2004 10:47:40 +0100

Also, did you not get any burning software with the drive?

--

Graham Hughes

MVP

www.simplydv.co.uk

www.dvds2treasure.com

"Nick Burns" <thedoc@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:OYLVHR$VEHA.808@tk2msftngpl3.phx.gbl...

>

> "Mr. Flynn" <Mr.Flynn@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message > news:94013DC2-00AA-4658-AAFE-99D2ACB1FC0E@microsoft.com...

> > Im having loads of trouble with my DVD writer at the minute.

> > I have always been able to write audio files on a CD-R but recently i have > been trying to burn movie files onto a DVD-RW and it will not work.

> > To try and find out what the problem was, i tried copying some audio files

> onto the DVD-RW and they wont work either.

> > To check if the writer was, for some reaasn, broken, i tried copying audio > files to a CD-R again and it is fine.

> > I dont understand what the problem is.

> > I also recently got some software called Click n Burn pro to try and help,

> but when i start up the program it says that no combatible recording drives

> have been found on the computer!

> > Can anyone help me?

>

>

> First are the things you are burning to disk, burning ok, are they on the > disk...?

> What is the file type of the movie files you are trying to get to work and > what procedure are you using to burn to DVD.

> What are you trying to play the DVD disk on for movies and audio...?

>

>