Hi

I have a network with XP computers.
The Local(host) computer is based in a communal area of the business.
I access this computer from around the the building.

I can logon perfectly to the host. but because its in a communal area,
I would like the computer to automatically log itself back on. on the Host
PC when I Disconnect/log out of the Remote PC

If I could set up a script or a programme when I log off remotely to run locally to log bak on locally

Thank You

Jamie
