Hi there... I got a question about WINXP Pro and home. I use both in out small business network.

My Server is a Win2000 Pro.
All Users have passwords

The problem is:

When a user starts up WinXP, they put in there password and windows loads.

– we have 3 mapped drives

It doesn't want to login to the mapped drives. BUT I can open up explore and click on those mapped drives and it will then connect (without puttin in a password).

I have remapped/remapped drive letters but still have the same problems. I also have put a check in the reconnect on login box.

any Idea's ????

Thanks
