You did not answer my second question.

hi again,
just scanned with AVG and it came up with 'Trojan Horse Generic9.ahst' which it found lying in C:\WINDOWS\system32\awtqp.dll AVG is telling me that the virus is not healable, and that file is infected.

I will try a scan with the link you sent me and see if anything different occurs.
Guess i should just keep trying?
Regards again,

Tim

Scan your machine for viruses, preferably with an independent virus scanner, e.g. <http://us.trendmicro.com/us/home/home-user>.
Look for "house call".

You should also report this rather essential detail: Does your machine work or does it not?

Many thanks, I am thinking this also. i have tried safe modes and system
restore and all is well until i switch off and log back on again

Re: missing file?

'there it is' again. Don't know what to do next, new hard drive ha ha???

I keep getting 2 error
readings every time i start up windows XP
Service
pack 2

Both are telling me that it cannot find the following file in the registry.
C:\WINDOWS\system32\awtqp.exe

Can anyone help please? regards
Tim

I googled for "awtqp.exe" and got the impression that this file is related to a virus.
