

Re: XP slow login on '03 domain & linked GP question

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.group_policy/2004-06/0376.html

From: Darren Mar-Elia (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 06/21/04

Date: Mon, 21 Jun 2004 08:49:58 -0700

Nathan-

Have you run rsop.msc on one of those XP clients to see which policies are taking effect? I suspect that you are probably getting some policy after all and that it is timing out for some reason. The RSOP report will tell you what policies you are getting. You can also enable verbose "userenv" logging to get a detailed trace of the logon process. Check out <http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?kbid=221833> for information on enabling this logging. I also have implemented a logging ADM template here: www.gpoguy.com/tools.htm that you can use to set this up via GPO itself.

Darren

<http://www.gpoguy.com>

"Nathan H" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:eJ6ZJ33VEHA.3420@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> Hi all

>

> Although the subject tells it all really, just thought I'd add a bit of > detail (thus

> the post to both groups)

>

> Have migrated the users from a NT domain into my new 2003 domain and > they all seem fine...

>

> (except a few problems when they change their password from the default

> the first time they logon... and the icons and start menu not appearing,

> etc. even

> after setting it up and creating a config.pol file)

>

> ...on the win 98 clients but with the XP clients, it takes AGES for them to > log on.

> It must be a good 5 mins or more before they can do anything but when they > can,

> its good but not great.

microsoft.public.windows.group_policy: Re: XP slow login on '03 domain & linked GP question

>
> *The mapped drives appear i.e. H: for a user's Home drive but I couldn't get > the > group policy I tried to work. It managed to almost lock me out of the > domain
> controller (guess thats what I get for editing the default domain policy)
> but nothing > whatsoever changed on the client machines :(*
>
> Any ideas on these topics as I thought they may be linked somehow!?
>
> Also, any good sites & resources for learning about Group Policy, GPO's > etc.?, as > I'll never get sent on any training for it and my own budget would never be > able to > afford it either.
>
> *Kind Regards all,
> Nathan H.
> Network / IT Administrator – Ysgol Bro Ddyfi (Edu)*
>
>