Hello Alexyy,

Do not make them local admin first. But even with this you can not complete prevent them to install/use additional software. Some runs from USB drives or without installing.

Why do they have IIS on there XP machines?

Hi All,

I am windows 2003 server and win xp client setup in my organisation. I would like to know how to stop a group of users should not be able to install any softwares. This group of users have local administrator rights, they have to restart the IIS services when ever they required or if need to add any thing in IIS, so we have given local admin rights to those group of users.

Re: How to stop users installing softwares.

I would like to know how to stop this group of users. should not install any software and same time there work should not be disturbed with related to IIS

Regards

Alex
