I have done everything like DON said and it worked ,i also run the other program which is there on the list ,which lets you see what is going on the log files and lets you choose which files you dont want to run , and which you want to remove manually.

On that Web site from DON they say that our problem is some kind of trojan which dosen't let run or connect to sites with virus scans or add removal tools. Do everything as Don wrote and everything should be back to normal.

Here is this two links again <http://216.180.233.153/~merijn/files/HijackThis.exe>

THANKS DON .
