Hello:

We have a strange problem with IE 6.0. Sometimes a user tries to print a web page through IE, but it only prints a blank page. Then if you go to print preview you can't see anything except header and footer. The rest of the page is blank.

Then if the user logs off and then re login, the problem is solved. The most curious thing of this matter, is that you can print from all other apps without problems.

Thanks in advance
