

IE,OE & Hotmail – Connected Problem

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2004-05/0777.htm>

---

From: P (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 05/02/04

Date: Sun, 2 May 2004 15:32:34 -0700

I have exactly the same problem.

A similar situation occurred last year and I ended up having to reformat my hard disk and re install everything. This time I now have Netscape installed as a back up. I am currently running Adaware, & Spybot which have found and removed several spy programs but the PC company that investigated my problems last year put it down to an unidentified virus/ trojan horse.

Anyone have any solutions?

>-----Original Message-----

>Hi All,

>

>A couple of maybe related issues here if anyone can help me, all these happened at the same time and i have not found a fix for any of them yet.

>

>Using Windows XP Pro with 99% updates.

>

>1. When i browse my Hotmail account under IE it complains that I am not using IE and i should download it for a better experience ?

>

>2. In OE i can no longer connect to the Hotmail server to download emails as this complains about Port 0 error, not allowed therefore it just chucks me out.

>

>3. Windows update no longer works, it just sits on the start page and never looks at my computer for updates.

>

>IE works fine for all other connections and web browsing... Anyone any clues as im fresh out as this was all working a couple of days ago.

>

>

>