Hi Dan :-)

Try the following:

Run Time Errors – Courtesy of Henri Leboeuf:

Common script errors messages can be eliminated by Clicking:

1. Open Internet Explorer.
2. On the Tools menu, click Internet Options. 3. In the Internet Options dialog box, click Advanced.
4. Click to select the Disable script debugging check box.
5. Click to clear the Display a notification about every script error check box.
6. Click OK.

Get this if still no joy:

Microsoft's Scripting download

Get the latest. Two download versions are available for Windows Script 5.6.

The first version requires Windows 2000, XP; the second version requires Microsoft Windows 98, Millenium Edition (Me), or NT 4.0.

Choose the download appropriate for your operating system.

If ths does not resolve you problem then:

It is possible you may have parasites, spyware, adware, malware, or hijackware on your system causing the problem.

Download and install, then you MUST update the programs prior to running to be sure they have the latest definitions, then run the programs below. They are free and very effective. Be sure to run both SpyBot and Adaware, as what one does not detect the other may. It is important that you follow all directions carefully:

You can go to the links below to check your system for parasites

IMPORTANT:

Before trying to remove spyware, download a copy of LSPFIX from the URL below - some malware may kill your internet connection when it is removed, this program will enable you to regain your connection.

<http://www.cexx.org/lspfix.htm>

It is important that you run the programs in the order that they are listed here. The first three programs will clear your machine of all other items so microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser: Re: constant runtime errors--please help that you can have a clear HiJackThis Log for the experts to read and analyze for you.

(NOTE: If you can not download these programs from the Internet, if your PC has CD read capabilities, go to another computer with CD-ROM burning capabilities. Create a folder on the hard drive of the other computer called HOLD, download the programs to that folder, then burn that folder to a CD. Copy the HOLD folder to your HD and then install the programs from there and run them. After you have IE access again, update all programs where possible to get the latest definitions and run them again to be sure there are no lingering items on the system.

and download HiJackThis. Unzip to a folder other than your Desktop or the Temp folder, doubleclick HiJackThis.exe, and hit "Scan".

When the scan is finished, the "Scan" button will change into a "Save Log" button. Press that, save the log some place you remember where it is.

Most of what it lists will be harmless or even required, so DO NOT fix anything yet.

Open a the copy of your log in NotePad and made a copy. Then you can go here to post you log:

Go to the HiJackThis section on the forum list and click to open. You can post as a guest. It's also a good site to keep for reference. The experts there will analyze the log and report back the results. Please allow at least a few hours or a days time for a response.

Remember, you must return to the HJT site to get your answer. It is a good idea to click the "Notify" box so that you will get an electronic notification by e-mail to let you know when a response has been posted.

But, you must still return to the site of your answer
