It seems I have become victim to the spyware/adware demons. (I can tell by reading the discussion board that I am not alone). I was having the same problem with my home page and my search page changing. I ran SpySweeper which found a program called SubmitHook.dll on my computer. I uninstalled it and solved my home page problem but ever since then I have been getting pop-up ads from "Only the Best" and "Search-777". I am too scared to install either Adaware or Spybot because of the reviews that were given on Cnet. I have tried countless times to update my McAfee virus definitions but I keep getting an error page. (Is this related somehow?) I was wondering if anyone has figured out a way to remove this adware or if anyone has had any luck in removing it with McAfee VirusScan?

Thanks,
Monica
