

Re: saving pages

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2004-07/3381.htm>

From: A. (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 07/11/04

Date: Sun, 11 Jul 2004 11:36:47 -0700

okay,thanks for the reply. but i really didnt understand a lot of it. i can save pics right now. but, i still cant save the whole page. i didnt try saving the page i want yet(it took me a while to find this post again). lets say i try saving the yahoo page(for example). 'file','save as', file name: untitled(it used to say the page name),save as type: HTML file (.htm;.html),.Language:Unicode(UTF-8). i save it, but i look in my docs,and it is just the html file. i no longer get the folder that has all the graphics from the page in it. the language changes when i go to the site(which has images on it that arent thumbnails(full pics inside borderlines and such). i can only use the .html or .txt file types. this may have been answered, but i couldnt see anything that helped.and i wasnt too specific before either.any help(again). thanks/sorry.

>-----Original Message-----

>

>untitled.bmp problem.

>Clear the IE cache. I.E./Tools/Options/General/Delete files (and delete >offline content.) It's often recommended that the

Temporary Internet Files

>(folder) be kept at

>40-50 MB. Bigger isn't necessarily better.

>--

>

>Other problem. The owner may have made some changes and that is why you >cannot get the complete page any more.

>

>This Web Page Could Not Be Saved

>When you attempt to save a Web page using the Web Page, complete

>(.htm;.html) or Web Archive, single file (*.mht) options in Internet

>Explorer, you may receive the follow error message:

Error Saving Web Page.

>This Web page could not be saved.

><http://support.microsoft.com/?kbid=235589> (i. e. 5, 6, 5/10/2003)

>-----

>-----

>

>

>The probable cause is that the web page contains a link to a StyleSheet >which resides >on a different server than the one where the page is located. After some >recent >security update (MS02-023 Patch or later), Internet Explorer blocks access >to >StyleSheet code if the code is on a different domain/server.

>This is why the page fails to be saved.

>

>For more information about MS02-023, please see:

>322928 MS02-023: Patch Available to Disable Frames in the Restricted Sites

>Zone

><http://support.microsoft.com/?id=322928>

>

>The following is an example:

>=====

>1. Open the web site in Internet Explorer on a machine >where MS02-023 security patch or later (such as Internet Explorer 6 SP1) is >installed.

>

>2. Select Internet Explorer File menu and select Save.

>3. Leave 'Save as Type' to 'Web Page, complete (.htm,.html)

>

>Before saving of the web page is complete, and error message appears:

>"Error Saving Web Page: The Web page could not be saved to the selected >location".

>You can click OK to close the message, but the page is not saved to disk.

>

>If you do the same with for example everything >works perfectly.

>

>ANALYSIS
>=====
>The difference is that postimees.ee uses:
> <ink rel="stylesheet"
>href="<http://194.204.30.64/postimees/styles/postimees.css>
>">
>and aflonbadet:
><LINK rel="stylesheet" type="TEXT/CSS"
>href="<http://www.aftonbladet.se/vss/sidhuvud/css/files/0.3590,bas,00.css>">
>
>194.204.30.64 is a different server than the current web page, while >www.aftonbladet.se is in the same sever.
>
>To resolve the problem, you can inform the web site administrator to change >the StyleSheet location in the website. (Good luck)
>
>Regards,
>Hover Xue
>Microsoft Partner Online Support
>
>
>
>Henri Leboeuf
>Web page: <http://www.colba.net/~hlebo49/index.htm>
>====
>"A." <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
>news:2a0c001c46620$08c5e4b0$a501280a@phx.gbl... >> i know i used to be able to before, but i can't now. i >> want to save the entire page(page that has non thumbed >> pics and the like), but i can only save the HTML now.
it >> used to save everything on the page,and put them into a >> folder. i looked in Help. it said something about >> clicking on Web Page,complete. i couldnt find that >> anywhere. i went back to default settings on advanced >> internet properties. nothing changed.
>>
>> i am also getting the problem where i can only save the >> file as untitled.bmp . i guess its okay though. once i >> figure out how to save the entire page again, with >> everything separate, it wont matter too much.
>>
>> any help would be appreciated. thanks
>
>
>