Method 1

Check your Internet explorer(the Blue "E") Icon Properties

Right click on it>select Properties>in the "run" box. Make sure it is set to Maximize. If not, use the drop down arrow and select Maximize.Click OK or place your mouse pointer on the title tab of the windows (where it says Internet explorer), Drag the mouse with the left mouse button(the entire window will move the direction, which is up in your case. When the IE window is when you want it, Stop Dragging the mouse,(Release the mouse). Then hold down the CTRL key (on your keyboard) and click with the left mouse button the "X" in the far right corner of the screen to exit IE. (NO NOT use any other method to exit IE)

Re-start IE, and the window should be either Maximized(by method 1) or where you dragged it in method 2
