

Re: IE should not open this file type

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2004-11/0839.htm>

From: Hans Le Roy (hlrNO_at_SPAMmvps.org)

Date: 11/05/04

Date: Fri, 5 Nov 2004 15:50:53 +0100

Hi bosse,

No need for another file type for the same extension. I think changing the default app for that filetype would do. You can ctrl+click on such a file, Open with, select the application you want and check [x] Always use...

Kind regards

Hans Le Roy
MS MVP Win/IE-OE

"bosse" <pakten@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:abdf509a.0411041036.34144b5f@posting.google.com...

- > When i click a .pgn file in IE6 it opens it (as text). I want another
- > program to open the file. .pgn was not in Windows Explorer / Tools /
- > Folder Options / File Types, so I made a new file type and associated
- > it with the other program.
- > It works allright on the computer, but if I click a .pgn-file in IE,
- > then it is still opened (as text) in the browser window