Prior to SP2, I had a pop-up blocker installed. When I installed SP2, I uninstalled the popup blocker, but after doing that, some web pages with links display the "This page cannot be displayed.." message where the link should be. I can find nothing that tells me how I can repair it and I'm hoping one of you may have an idea or point me in the right direction. As noted I'm running XP Pro with all SP's and updates to both SP and IE6.
