Hi Kevin :-)

You're very welcome! In addition, I might just add that, on occasion, I too have had problems with some websites taking a very long..long..long time to finally open. My ISP is Verizon. Sometimes it will take up to 5-7 minutes, or more, for a website to finally fully load. Other times, I get a "Page cannot be found" error. These are sites I know are good. However, the next day, or two, or perhaps just hours later, the page will open as it should and no more problems. I have been told that this may be due to heavy traffic at the site, or maintenance being done by the administrator or webmaster.

Jan :)
