

Re: Combining Netscape Bookmarks with IE Favorites

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-05/msg0264>

- From: "Sandi – Microsoft MVP" <sandi_hardmeier@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 28 May 2005 18:27:52 +0800
-

You can do that via Windows Explorer. The Favorites folder is, after all, a simple folder.

Otherwise, you can try this:

<http://aignes.com/products.htm>

Be warned, I have not tried out this product, and do not know if it will install adware or anything else unpleasant.

--

Sandi's Site has changed – for instructions on how to find old URLs, go here:

<http://msmvps.com/spywaresucks/archive/2005/05/14/46971.aspx>

Hyperlinks used to ensure advice is current

Sandi – Microsoft MVP since 1999

<http://inetexplorer.mvps.org>

Visit the Internet Explorer Community

<http://www.microsoft.com/windows/ie/community/default.msp>

"ScanBat" <ScanBat@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:E697747B-4B35-4867-8A08-7B95DA0AC661@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

- > When I first starting using my Netscape 4.79 Browser I organized my
- > Bookmarks; by creating a "Alphabetical Folder Tree" (A–Z), and inserting
- > or
- > moving saved Bookmarks into the folders within the A–Z structure.
- >
- > As I gradually began using IE 6.0 more, and Netscape less, I handed the
- > organization of my new IE bookmarks in the same way.
- >
- > However, I then found I had two structurally similar bookmark files, that
- > differed in terms of specific saved Bookmarks, (& Folder Names within the
- > A–Z Folders).

Re: Combining Netscape Bookmarks with IE Favorites

- >
- > In an attempt to merge all my Bookmarks into a single "Combined Bookmark
- > Directory", I tried importing my Netscape Bookmarks, into Internet
- > Explorer
- > Favorites.
- >
- > Now to my chagrin I find my IE Favorites contain, one A-Z directory called
- > "Bookmarks", (the bookmark file I created in IE); and another A-Z
- > directory
- > called "Imported Bookmarks", (the one I created in Netscape.)
- >
- > And, I am forever switching back & forth. Saving new (& looking for old)
- > bookmarks sometimes under "Bookmarks", sometimes under "Imported
- > Bookmarks".
- >
- > Please tell me there is there yet some simple way I have missed, (or
- > maybe
- > a third party Utility Program I can use), to get all of my bookmarks (&
- > differing Named Folders & Sub-Folders, in the two separate A-Z
- > directories),
- > sorted out into a single complete A-Z Bookmark directory?

- References:

- ◆ Combining Netscape Bookmarks with IE Favorites
- ◇ From: ScanBat

- Prev by Date: Re: Explanation for old problem with IE?
- Next by Date: Re: ftp downloads in IE6
- Previous by thread: Combining Netscape Bookmarks with IE Favorites
- Next by thread: Explanation for old problem with IE?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread