

Re: How to block a list of websites?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-06/msg0245>

- From: "Jim Byrd" <jrbyrd@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 26 Jun 2005 22:37:31 -0700
-

Hi Siemel – From my Blog, address in Signature, below:

"install and keep updated a good HOSTS file. It can help you avoid most adware/malware. See here: <http://www.mvps.org/winhelp2002/hosts.htm> (Be sure it's named/renamed HOSTS – all caps, no extension) Additional tutorials here: <http://www.spywarewarrior.com/viewtopic.php?t=410> (overview) and here:
<http://www.bleepingcomputer.com/forums/tutorial51.html> (detailed)"

--

Regards, Jim Byrd, MS-MVP
My, Blog Defending Your Machine, here:
<http://defendingyourmachine.blogspot.com/>

"Siemel Naran" <SiemelNaran@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:2C117EBB-E599-4B67-B49F-326D2A5593F4@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
> How to block a list of websites? For example, I have mistyped > www.craigslist.org as www.craigslist.com. The former is useful > bulletin board, and the latter is a porn site. I want a place where > I can type in a list of sites which, if typed in IE address bar or > also in Windows Explorer address bar, will pop up an error saying the > site is blocked. I tried some of the free parental control software, > and they didn't function well (for example they blocked > finance.yahoo.com). Thanks.

.

-
- References:
 - ◆ How to block a list of websites?
 - ◇ From: Siemel Naran
 - Prev by Date: Re: IE not allowing 2 open windows
 - Next by Date: RE: How to block a list of websites?
 - Previous by thread: How to block a list of websites?
 - Next by thread: RE: How to block a list of websites?
 - Index(es):

Re: How to block a list of websites?

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread