

Re: Active window becomes inactive

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-08/msg0062>

---

- From: "Jon Kennedy" <jkennedy2@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Fri, 5 Aug 2005 20:10:24 -0400
-

Do you have Outlook Express running - and checking for new emails every two minutes? If so, then Minimize the OE window to the taskbar - don't have it open behind your other windows. Same could go for an open IE window that's on a page that's coded to refresh ever two minutes or so - like a news or stock site, for instance.

--

Jon R. Kennedy
Charlotte, NC, USA
jkennedy2@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

"craftersh" <craftersh@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message <news:2729BE9A-0168-4673-9D31-A1086C5869C0@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Whenever I am online, my active window becomes inactive about every two minutes. This even happens to Word, Excel, IE, etc. Whatever window is active, keeps becoming inactive. This does NOT happen unless I am online. I recently downloaded SP2, my IE version is 6.0.2900.2180.xpsp_sp2_gdr.050301-1519. This is very frustrating and annoying to have to keep clicking on the window to make it active again. What is causing this and how can it be corrected?