

IE icon question

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-08/msg0074>

- From: "Julia" <noreply@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 6 Aug 2005 23:18:36 +0100
-

Hi

I have 2 types of IE icons displaying on my Windows taskbar. XP only 'groups' (where more than 5 windows are open) the IE windows with a blue capital 'E'. The other IE icon is a 'white page' with a small blue 'E' on the left side of the icon.

Do you know why the IE icons are different and why they don't group all the internet windows together? Would it be because of the way I accessed the site, via a link within an application?

Thank you in advance for your reply.
Julia

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: IE icon question
 - ◇ From: Rob Parsons
 - Prev by Date: Re: Unable to launch Mail from icon or menu
 - Next by Date: Re: Unable to launch Mail from icon or menu
 - Previous by thread: cannot download IE 6
 - Next by thread: Re: IE icon question
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread