What problem? Do you have SBC/Yahoo software installed? Who told you IE was causing the problem?

If the machine is infested with hijackware (as CrystalBall© is telling me), reinstalling IE won't help since hijackware infects the Operating System (Windows), not IE.

When all else fails, HijackThis v1.99.1
(<http://aumha.net/downloads/hijackthis.zip>) is the preferred tool to use.
It will help you to both identify and remove any hijackware/spyware.

6 already installed setup cannot continue. My main problem is error with ybrowser and they told me it was the IE causing it. Is there a way to reinstall IE6 without trying to start over. guess XP would have to be reinstalled also. I'm not too up to date on this stuff hope someone can help me.
