

Constant "Page cannot be found message"

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-09/msg0133>

---

- From: "Tom Flanagan" <tomflanaganjr@xxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sat, 17 Sep 2005 08:58:21 -0400
-

I have Windows XP (Service Pack 2) and have IE 6.0.2900.2180. Some time ago I had all sorts of spyware problems and I switched to Firefox and downloaded several spyware programs. I primarily use firefox as my browser but occasionally would use IE, and all was working fine. Recently when I try to open IE all I get is "Page cannot be found" with the detail listing of things to try, none of which work. I've tried looking online to troubleshoot but I have no idea where to begin. I was hoping to just uninstall and reinstall IE but I guess that isn't possible.

Any suggestions as to how I might get IE working again.

Thanks

Tom

PS My Firefox browser works fine, it's just Internet Explorer that I can't get to work.

-
- Prev by Date: *The page cannot be refreshed without resending the information*
  - Next by Date: *Ad-Aware*
  - Previous by thread: *The page cannot be refreshed without resending the information*
  - Next by thread: *Ad-Aware*
  - Index(es):
    - ◆ *Date*
    - ◆ *Thread*