

Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.browser/2005-10/msg0081>

---

- From: Paul Kraemer <PaulKraemer@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Wed, 19 Oct 2005 12:31:12 -0700
-

Hi Jan,

Thanks for your response. The website I am having trouble with is already listed in my "Trusted Sites." Also, I have already enabled Active Scripting for my regular Internet Zone. I think my problem must be something else. Please let me know if you have any other ideas.

Thanks,
Paul

—
Paul Kraemer

"Jan II" wrote:

- > Hi Paul :-)
- >
- > Try the following and see if it helps:
- >
- > If you're using Microsoft Internet Explorer 5.0 or above:
- >
- > Select the "Tools" menu at the top of the screen.
- > Select the "Security" tab.
- > If you want to allow JavaScript processing for just our web site, add n3inc.com to your list of Trusted Sites:
- > Click on the green "Trusted Sites" icon.
- > Click on the "Sites" button.
- > Type (name of website).com under "Add this Web site to the zone:".
- > Uncheck the checkmark in the "Require server verification..." checkbox at the bottom of the screen.
- > Click the "Add" button.
- > Click "OK" to close this window.
- > Click "OK" to close the Security window.
- > Click the "Refresh" button (the paper with two green arrows at the top of the screen).
- > JavaScript is now enabled for our web site.
- >

Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

- > If you want to allow JavaScript processing for all web sites, change the
- > Active Scripting setting on the browser:
- >
- > Click the "Custom Level" button at the bottom of the Security page.
- > The Security Settings page opens. Go down toward the bottom and find an
- > entry called "Active Scripting."
- > Change the Active Scripting setting to "Enable."
- > Click "OK" to close the Security Settings window.
- > Click "OK" to close the Security window.
- > Click the "Refresh" button (the paper with two green arrows at the top of
- > the screen).
- > JavaScript is now enabled for all web sites.
- >
- > Hope this helps.
- >
- > Jan :)
- > MS MVP/Windows – Internet Explorer
- > Smiles are meant to be shared,
- > that's why they're so contagious
- >
- > Replies posted only to the newsgroup for the benefit of other readers.
- > How to make a good newsgroup post:
- > <http://www.dts-1.org/goodpost.htm>
- >
- >> Hi,
- >>
- >> I am using MS Internet Explorer 6, which came with Windows XP Pro when I
- >> bought my PC. I am having trouble accessing a particular website
- >> (www.dhl.com).
- >>
- >> When I type in this address, I get a page saying "This page will
- >> automatically redirect in 2 seconds. If this does not work for any
- >> reason,
- >> please click on the link below: DHL Global Home". It doesn't redirect
- >> automatically, so I click on the link. This brings me to a page that says
- >> "Sorry, unable to display page. We have detected that JavaScript has been
- >> disabled in your browser. Our site requires JavaScript be enabled. Please
- >> enable JavaScript in your browser settings and try again."
- >>
- >> Looking in Tools | Internet options on the Security tab, I have *.dhl.com
- >> listed in my trusted sites, where I have the security level set to "Low".
- >> I
- >> have installed the latest version of the Java runtime from Sun (version
- >> 1.5.0_04). Also in Tools | Internet Options on the Advanced tab, under
- >> the
- >> Java (Sun) category I have checked "Use JRE 1.5.0_04 for applet". On this
- >> same tab, but under the Microsoft VM category, I have checked "java
- >> console
- >> enabled", "Java logging enabled", and "JIT compiler for virtual machine
- >> enabled".
- >>

Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

>> I am running Norton Internet Security 2005, but even if I disable it, I >> still have the same problem. Actually, I have this same problem on two >> different PC's running Windows XP Pro. I have another PC running Windows
>> 2000 from which I am able to access the website with no problem.
>>
>> If anyone has any ideas what might be wrong, I'd really appreciate it.
>>
>> Thanks,
>> Paul
>>
>> --
>> Paul Kraemer
>
>
.

---

- Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

- ◇ From: Frank Saunders, MS-MVP OE

- References:

- ◆ Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?

- ◇ From: Jan Il

- Prev by Date: Re: the connection was refused when attempting to connect www.anysite.com
- Next by Date: Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?
- Previous by thread: Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?
- Next by thread: Re: Javascript disabled in my browser?
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread