Hi TMacK :-)

Thanx for all the info Jan!

Yes,I ment IE..do I feel stupid! :-/ and sorry I forgot to mention that I was running xp home.

It worked going to start>run> and typing IE4UINIT.EXE

In firefox I unchecked the box "f/f should check if whether its the default ".

Do I still need to reset my Web settings?

Thanx again,I find all the links a great resource.

TMacK

You're very welcome! I'm glad to hear you were able to resolve your problem. Good job!

I don't see that it would do any harm to reset the Web settings as well, but, if it is working as you wish at this point I wouldn't worry too much about it. If at some point something does not work right then you can go back and reset those and see if that will help.

Thank you very much for posting back and letting us know what worked for you, and for the benefit of other readers who might have a similar problem.

must when asking for help in the newsgroups, and although you have posted OE is suspect that you mean IE as the default browser. If this is correct, try the following as it may apply to your OS and see if it helps:

Also check settings in Add/Remove Programs > Set Program Access and Defaults.

In XP log on to the Admin account
Go to >Start>click on "Set Program Access and Defaults"
If you don't see a list there to select from, click on the double down arrows at the right end of the line which will open the list.

For WinXP SP1 and above, you can use the "Set Program Access and Defaults" feature.

Or....Available in XP SP1 and Windows 2000 SP4 (i think) and above
Equivalent command–line for setting IE as default (tested in XP)

shmrate.exe OCInstallReinstallIE and/or..

Start>Run>Type IE4UINIT.EXE
Hit enter

This creates a shortcut to iexplore.exe and places it in the Quick Launch and Start Menu > All Programs.

Other options:

Internet Explorer should check to see whether it is the default browser – option does not work:

Tip #41: Setting Internet Explorer as the default browser

<http://windowsxp.mvps.org/IEFAQ.htm>

or..

Try this:

Open IE>Tools>Internet Options>Programs tab

Make sure "Internet Explorer should check to see whether it is the default browser" is

CHECKED.

Press Ok, and when you next run IE, a confirmation dialog box should appear asking you whether you want it to be the default browser again. Click Yes.

To reset Internet Explorer settings

If you installed another Web browser after installing Internet Explorer and Internet Tools, some of your Internet Explorer settings may have changed. You can reset your Internet Explorer settings to their original defaults, including your home page and search pages, and choice of default browser, without changing your other browser's settings.

- 1.. On the Tools menu, click Internet Options.
- 2.. Click the Programs tab.
- 3.. Click the Reset Web Settings button.

Web Settings button

[[Click this to reset the default Internet Explorer settings for your home and search pages, and prompt to make Internet Explorer your default browser.

Note: This only resets these settings if you have installed another Web browser after installing Internet Explorer and Internet Tools, and that browser has changed the default settings.]]

I was having some problems with OE so downloaded Firefox, just to see if it would work properly. At that time I chose to make Firefox my default browser, but now realize that I really want OE as the default. I'm running xp home. What do I do to get OE as my default browser again? Thanx!
