To keep track of things, it helps immensely if you include all of previous message(s) in your replies to the newsgroup. Thank you.

Are you using IE or Yahoo Browser?

Any difference if you disable both Yahoo Companion and Google Toolbar via IE Tools > Manage add-ons?
...if you uninstall both of them then reboot?

Well, I went to the page and read it.

It said that a "workaround" would be to uncheck the "use http 1.1" radio button, in the advanced options.

It said to do it from the "tools" menu, in the browser; but the browser won't do anything except load google and yahoo buttons, and spin it's little corner gif.

So, I did it from the desktop Launch IE right-click+properties menu.

It didn't change anything.

If that was the problem, then the workaround would handle it, wouldn't it.

IE won't load a page.

It just sits there with a "busy" cursor for as long as you want to look at it.

A hotfix for one of the issues was released on 11 Aug-06:
