I seem to be unable to send pictures to anyone via email. The error message states "This Mail has been blocked as our mail servers determine it could potentially contain the mutant Bagle 0 virus', "

I have scanned with Norton (which I do frequently). Definitions are up to date. I have also scanned with an online virus scanner (trend – I think). Everything is reporting that I am clear. How can I get this picture to be delivered (it's a jpg BTW).

If I really have got the Bagel virus, how can I check and repair this, since my antivirus software hasn't reported a problem.

Thanks in advance for any help

Sarah
