

Re: how can i stop windows from blocking "harmful" messages???

Re: how can i stop windows from blocking "harmful" messages???

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6.outlookexpress/2006-08/m>

- From: "Rick Irons" <rick@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 19 Jul 2006 14:59:37 -1000
-

If you haven't found the solution yet, it's probably in Tools > Options > Security. Uncheck the second check box, "Do not allow attachments to be opened that contain..."

Good Luck!

"BrianW" <brian@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:zqxvg.45391\$ST2.27556@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Plaz wrote:

I know its probably easy but can't find it. It says it is blocking things that could be harmful to my computer. This one today is a .wmv file that I sent to myself from work. I have to send it to one of my kids pc's here and it opens withoput a hitch. Any help would be appreciated!

Thanks

Are you sure it's OE that's blocking them, and not a firewall or antivirus software? For example ZoneAlarm has a list of extensions which it will block unless you request otherwise – although IHTS wmv isn't one of them, but wms (Windows Media Skin) is.

Brian