

Re: Copy Block List in Outlook Express 6

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2004-03/0

From: George \(\Bindar Dundat\) (JustMe_at_nothome.net)

Date: 03/04/04

Date: Wed, 3 Mar 2004 16:42:08 -0800

If you had read that page you would have discovered how to do it. The Blocked Senders list is not a file. It is Registry entries.

--

George (Bindar Dundat ©) MS-MVP

<http://dundats.proboards27.com/index.cgi>

<anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
news:676601c4017f$ed4f7b60$a501280a@phx.gbl...

| I'm not sure why you sent me to this address in your
| response, I am not interested in backing up the files. I
| only want to find the file that has the block senders
| email addresses so I can copy them.

| Dan

| >-----Original Message-----

| >

| >"Dan W." <Dan@prestonimages.com> wrote in message

| >news:66e901c4017a$08168cf0$a001280a@phx.gbl...

| >I would like to copy the entries in my Outlook Express 6

| >block list so I can

| >insert them in my host server reject-email folder. This

| >would stop emails

| >from being downloaded to my computer, which wastes time.

| >Anyone know how to

| >copy all emails in the block list at once?

| >

| >Thanks, Dan

| >-----

| >

| >Partial backup choice:

| ><http://insideoe.tomsterdam.com/backup/>

| >

| >Bruce

| >

| >

| >

| >.

| >