It's just created...I don't know if this is the right behaviour:

when I send a message, this appears in Sent Items (local) , nothing in Sent Items (server side)

if I start a web mail session with the same username and password, and the I send a message, in these circumstances I can see it in Outlook Express Sent Items (server side)

My question is, how can I keep track of message sent in Sent Items (server side) too? (not local folder only)

Alberto Brivio
