

Re: How can I create a rule in outlook express using program?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2004-05/5

From: Steve Cochran (scochran_at_oehelp.com)

Date: 05/26/04

Date: Wed, 26 May 2004 05:06:49 -0400

I don't know that there is a program to do this. The rules are not encrypted, but are in binary. See http://www.mindspring.com/~oe_oh/steve

"Jerry Shang" <shangsong2000@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:ON9s7kvQEHA.624@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl...

>I want to write a program to add rules to outlook exprss like what norton > antispam does.

> When I analysing the registry,I found a problem that registry value

> "HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Identities\{GUID}\Software\Microsoft\Outlook

> Express\5.0\Rules\Mail\000\Actions\000\Value"

> is encrypted.

> My purpose is move special mail to special folder automatically.I find the > value of "HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Identities\{GUID}\Software\Microsoft\Outlook

> Express\5.0\Rules\Mail\000\Actions\000\Value" is relative to the special ID

> but been encrypted.

>

> Who can tell me the method to encrypt the value.

>

>