

Re: Message rules question again

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2004-07/3

From: Bob Moyer (bob.moyer_at_dol.net)

Date: 07/23/04

Date: Fri, 23 Jul 2004 14:48:43 -0400

Aha! So that's what I did wrong! No, I did not enter each one separately, I used a comma and a list. Yes, I did first select Delete from server. Yes, I did click the options and change to 'Does not contain' I guess (I hope) my problem was the fact that I did not add each one separately. I will correct that now. Thanks and I hope it works...

Bob

"Bruce Hagen" <Nosspam@mymail.invalid> wrote in message
news:eJAblAOcEHA.4092@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl...

> Did you choose Delete it, or Delete from server? Delete it only sends > it to the Deleted Items folder and you also have to check Stop > processing more rules. Delete it from server does just that, and you > don't see the message.

>

> *Did you add the letters and numbers One at a time and click Add > before entering the next letter?*

>

> When you were done entering the letters, did you click the Options > button and change it to Does not contain.....

>

> If you chose Delete from server, move the rule to the top of the > list.

>

> See this:

> <http://insideoe.tomsterdam.com/faqs/why.htm#rules>

> --

> Bruce Hagen

> ~IB-CA~

>

>

> "Bob Moyer" <bob.moyer@dol.net> wrote in message

> news:eRJFI6NcEHA.1000@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> > I posted a day or so ago about messages with a blank subject line > concerning

> > something I find extremely offensive. I followed the suggestions

> > given

microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress: Re: Message rules question again > > about listing a,e,i,o,u and 1 through 0 and having them deleted > (per the > post). However, it doesn't seem to be working. I even added > another rule

> that if the word 'penis' or 'enlargement' is used in the body of > the message > to delete it also. That isn't working either. I get about 5 to 10
> of these > emails daily. If I click on the properties of these messages, the > senders
> are all different and use various domain addresses. The first 5 > letters of > the address are all the same 'gatew...' (the dots are varying > letters, > sometimes two and sometimes three). Please can anyone help me stop > these??
> >
> > Thanks,
> > Bob
> >
> >
>
>